A belated Merry Christmas from all of us. I did not get our greeting sent to each of you this year, so wanted to take this moment to send our love and very best for 2012. We had a wonderful Christmas. Of course the photo will explain why!! And our friend Betty, was with us for a couple of weeks so that made it more special. Stay well, Love, Neal and Nancy

Thank you Michelle for my beautiful handmade quilt!
It is beautiful and will make me feel like family is wrapped around me as I heal!
Love, Kyla xoxo

Dad & Kyla went to the Hartland Church for service a couple of weeks ago.

There were a total of 8 including the pastor and his wife. I like going back because of the memories, but it makes me sad to see the church barely hanging on. After church we went to visit Charlie & Evelyn Davis. Charlie is Grandad's only living sibling. He will be 97 next year and Evelyn will be 90. Charlie can't see or hear very well, so visiting is challenging. Evelyn is beautiful and she shared so many stories. They were married 72 years on the 27th of December! When I asked Evelyn what it was like being married to the same man for 72 years? She paused for a moment, looked at me and said, "LONG!" If you'd like to correspond with them their address is below.

CONGRATULATIONS to Jamie!
She succeeded in what she set out to do 365 days ago!
She didn't buy clothes, shoes and frivolous items and instead invested in her heart, mind, body and soul. So proud of you!!!
Follow her blog here to see what she's promising for 2012! <http://www.thepromise365.com/>

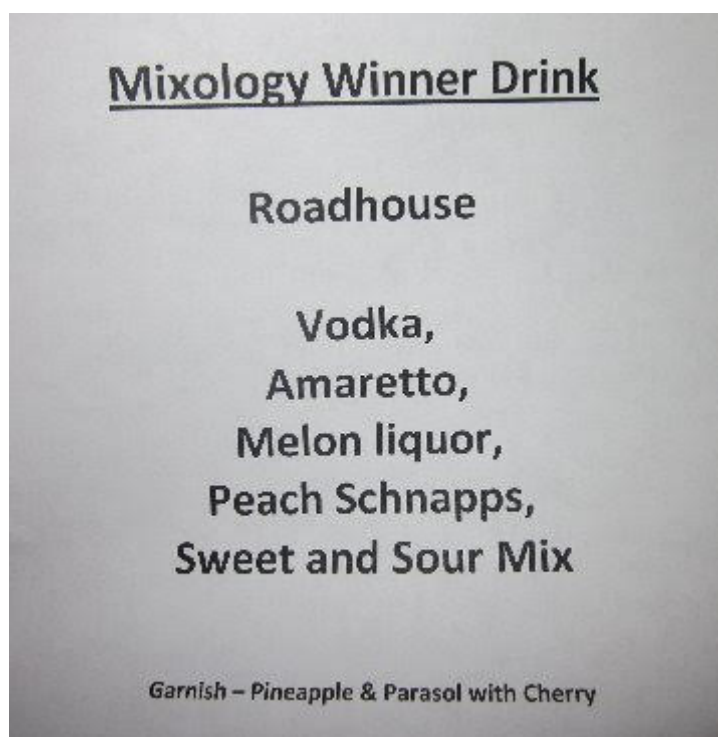

Bob & family had a great 5-day Carnival Cruise in the Western Caribbean with stops at the Cayman Islands and Cozumel, Mexico. We just returned late Saturday night and still have our sea legs! Thank you Dad for the wonderful family Christmas cruise. A vacation none of us will ever forget! Celebrating your 75th birthday and celebrating our awesome family!
(We're in the process of getting our pictures organized so we can share with the entire family).

Zach & Ashley entered a Mixology Competition on the cruise and Zach won! Watch Here!!
