Iowa Corn Crop

(Between the drought and the high winds, it's not looking so good...)

These pictures were taken on the same road in Nevada right across from one another. The field that looks green and lush still isn't a great crop, but you can see the damage done by the harsh temperatures and lack of rain just on the other side. It doesn't even resemble corn!

Future Davis Reunions

Bev & Mike have both recently visited Glacier Lodge in Estes Park, CO and inquired about having another family reunion there. We need to get a count on how many would be interested in going back there in 2013 or 2014? We haven't had a family reunion since 2007! The problem we had with Glacier Lodge is that we outgrew Timber Lodge - the largest cabin where we cooked and all gathered to play cards, etc. The capacity is only 30, so if we have a larger number than this I'm not sure this will work for our family. There are other cabins to rent for sleeping, it's trying to find a place where we can all be together that's the problem. I'm not sure if putting up a tent outside in the back is an option for meals and card playing? Let me know your thoughts...

(I just checked the availability for July 2013 for Timber Lodge and the only time that's open --with more than 5 days together -- is July 13 (Sat) - July 18 (Thurs). There isn't one whole week available. All the other weekends are booked).
